Mr. Allen Dulles
Deputy Director
Central Intelligence Agency
28th and E Street, N. W.
Washington, D. C.

My dear Allen:

In these days of confusion and doubt, there was reassurance in the news that you had accepted appointment as Deputy Director of C. I. A. I have ample evidence from my own participation in O. S. S. that this vital service is now in good hands.

I know how busy you must be and I would not take up but a few minutes of your time. It would be good, also, to shake hands with [redacted] if he is still there.

Please let me hear from you.
